

SIMCAS TRAINING PACKAGE

An online document that describes how to train the staff to apply the methodological approach and the correct use of tools for the integration of migrant via sport in critical areas

The SIMCAS Training package represents the main outcome of the SIMCAS project. Starting from the SIMCAS ToolKit, competences and experiences of the partners it is defined a training package that will permit to increase the skills of sport operators as well as of all other operators that are working with sport and social integration projects. Drawing on the SIMCAS ToolKit and the expertise and experience of the partners, a training package has been defined that will enhance the skills of sports operators and all other professionals that work with sports and social inclusion projects. It is a online document that describes how to train the staff in the application of the SIMCAS methodological approach and the use of the operational toolkit for migrant integration through sport in critical areas.

The training package describes the:

- key principles and organizational elements of the SIMCAS methodological approach that can improve the effectiveness of interventions;
- check-lists to analyse the operational context - the capacity of the organisation to develop lines of intervention for the integration of migrants living in critical areas (self-assessment tool);
- tool for managing and evaluating interventions (most significant change methodology);

The training package was used by SIMCAS partner in the training workshops organized in the multiplier sport events.

The online document will be available in English, Danish, German, Greek, Italian, Slovenian, Spanish on the Simcas website.
